Description and Pedigree.

Lucifer is a black iron gray, 5 years old, with heavy white mane and tail; 15% hands high, and is a horse eminently ealculated to produce stock suited to every purpose for which the horse is required. Being himself beautiful in appearance, of proper size, faultless in form, mild and gentle in disposition, with action both for harness and sad die rarely equalled, very few, if indeed any, horse in Kentucky of his age can show greater trotting speed in harness, and it has been with great difficulty that he has been restrained from going all the saddle gaits, being sired by old Snowstorm, who went one gait as naturally as another, and all with unparalleled speed and style, and produced more fine saddle and harness horses in the two seasons he made in Kentucky than any other horse known. He was of the pure Norman'i Frenca breed from Canada, and his coits are commanding wherever found extravagant prices. Lucifer's dam was a large brown marc; blood unknown; was a natural pacer and could, without training, pace her mile in 3 minutes.

IFPI invite the attention of breeders to this young borse, at his stand, where I have a good track, and where persons wishing to breed can have an opportunity of witnessing hisspeed.

The Cheapest, most Brilliant, and most Convenient Artificial Light in the World!

The Chesper, in six Brithlant, and most Convenient Artificial Light in the World!

The Cash of the Artificial Light. In the World!

The Pesper Gas Light has won for itself a reputation I for elegance, economy, safety, and simplicity far beyond any other artificial light. The Vesper Gas flame and fixtures precisely resemble in form those of coal gas, but in brillisney and purity of light it possesses a decided advantage over even Louisville coal gas. It requires no chimney; there is no need of daily trimming of wick; and the construction of the fixture is so simple that it is not liable to get out of order, and a child can manage it readily. The gas burned in the Vesper fixtures is generated from pure coal oil, without any admixture of alcohol or other foreign ingredient. It is entirely free from door while burning, as, by a simple contrivance, the vapor of the oil is mixed with the atmosphere, producing perfect combustion and a most intense light. The light has been pronounced, by those who have had it in constant use for months, as most pleasant to the eye while reading or sewing, there being no flicker or unsteadiness in the flame. The Vesper Gas Light is portable, and can be used in town or country—in fact, wherever artificial light is required. The flatures themselves are adapted in styles to suit all tastes, from the plain single-light burner to the most costly chandeller. Each chandeller is perfect in itself, there is no outlay to be made for service pipes. The gas is generated in the burner, and all fixtures, from the cheap single-light burner to the expensive chandeller are miniature gas-works in themselves. They are fold at prices which do not exceed the cost of the ordinary gas fixtures of similar style and ornamentation.

MERCHANTS

MERCHANTS Visiting Louisville should not fail to procure the Ves-per Gas Fixtures for their stores.

Vorea districts character while the coarge cities.

The limited space of an advertisement precludes the insertion here of the numerous testimonials of approval we have received from all quarters. Suffice it to say, scientific men and others who inve examined and thoroughly tested the merits of the Vesper Gas Light, pronounce it the best and cheapest artificial light now known.

Messrs: Tallcot & Underhill, Oswego, N. Y. Messrs: Tallect & Underhill, Oswego, N. Y.

Gentlemen: I take pleasure in saying to you that the Water Wheel, (four feet in diameter double issued) purchased of Mr. Samuel Reynolds, the inventor, is now in operation and is giving me entire satisfacton, coming fully up to what it was recommended to do.—My first trial with it was at a very low stage of water, only three and a half feet head. It gave full power, for one run 42 inch Burrs, Bolts, Smut Mill, &c., with the gate 36 open. When the water rose so as to give me five feet head I havefull for two run of Burrs, doing full work, so that under the full head (six feet) I have a surplus of power.

I have run in backwater to the depth of four feet with no perceivable loss of power. This Wheel is put in place of a thirteen feet diameter Breast Wheel, and gives fully double the power with about the same amount of water that it did. I therefore take pleasure in paying you for it, believing that I now have a whoel that will last me 20, perhaps 50 years.

Among the heroines of history the name of Grace Darling will ever claim a high place.— The noble act which made her known to the tan theaters, on condition that she would mere world should be held in perpetual memory, in justice to her, and as a stimulus to philanthropy Finding that the facts in her history had passed so much from public remembrance, and that they were so inaccessible, a friend has condensed the narrative from Chambers' Miscellany for our col umns. It will be new to many of our readers, and interesting to all.

Grace Darling, the seventh child of William Darling, was born November 24, 1815, at Bamborough, on the coast of North Cumberland, but most of her girlhood, to the time of her death, was spent within the prison like walls of the Longstone Lighthouse.

Her disposition was reserved and retiring; in person she was about the middle size, of fair nplexion and pleasing countenance; there was nothing masculine in her appearance, but, on the contrary, she presented a very gentle aspect, with an expression of the greatest mildness and benevolence. William Howitt, the poet, who visited her after the noble deed which made her so justly celebrated, found her a realization idea of Jeanie Deans; he said, "Her smile was the sweetest he had ever seen in one of her station and appearance," and added that "she was thoroughly good, under her modest ex-terior lay a spirit capable of the most exalted devotion-a devotion so entire that daring seemed not so much a quality of her nature as the most perfect sympathy with suffering or out, in fact, every sentiment of itself."

Living on this lonely spot in the midst of the ocean, with the voice of the tempest familiarized to her mind, the sound of the everlasting deep her constant lullaby, the wide spreading sea her only prospect, with now and then a dis tant sail on the horizon-Grace Darling was shut out, as it were from the active scenes of life, and debarred from the innocent enjoyments of society and companionship which, as a fe male, must have been dear to her, unaccustomed

Very soon after the first shock, a powerful wave struck the vessel, which raised her off the rock, but the next moment she was thrown with great violence against the sharp edge of the cliff, which, striking her about midship, broke her in two pieces, the after part, containing the cabin, with many of the passengers was instantly carried off through a tremendous current called the Pifa Gut, which is considered dangerous even in good weather, while the forepart remained on

In the fore cabin, exposed to the fury of the waves, was Sarah Dawson, the wife of a weaver, with two children. When relief came, life was still trembling in the bosom of the mother, but her children lay cold in death by her side. The sufferers, nine in number, remained in their dreadful and perilous situation till dawn, fearing lest every rising surge would sweep the frag-ments of wreck on which they stood into the dark and foaming abyss beneath their feet

One of the poor fellows, in speaking of it afterward, with tears, said the thrill of delight which he experienced in seeing the boat approach the rock, changed to a feeling of amazement, which no language could express when he saw that one of their deliverers was a female! They were all taken at once to the lighthouse, which was their only place of refuge at the time. Grace gave up her bed to poor Mrs Dawson, and contented herself with lying down on a table.

A public subscription was also raised which amounted to about £700. To such a pitch did enthusiasm rise, that a large nightly sum was offered her by the proprietors of the metropoli ly sit in a boat during the performance of a piece in which her character bore a prominent part, but she declined all such offers Amidst all this applause, Grace never forgot the modest dignity of conduct which became sex and station. These many testimonials only seemed to produce in her mind feelings of w der and grateful pleasure, and though her circumstances were very much improved, she preferred to reside with her parents at the light

In 1841, her health failing, she was removed to Bamborough, and placed under the care of Dr. Fender. Finding no relief, she was taken to Wooler, and from thence to Newcastle for further medical advice. The Duchess of Nor thumberland hearing of her arrival, immediate procured a comfortable place for her in part of the city, supplied the poor sufferer with every requisite, and sent her own physician Once more she was removed back to her sister's home at Bamborough, where she arrived only ten days before her decease. On the day of her removal from Alnwick, the Duchess o Northumberland, without any attendant, and at tired in a very simple manner, called to take he last farewell of Grace, which she did with the most unaffected kindness. Shortly before her death she expressed a stron desire to see as many of her relations as could come, and with surprising fortitude and self com mand gave each some token of rememberance The thought of death gave her no uneasiness and throughout her whole illness no complain escaped her lips. On the 20th of October, 1842, she quietly sank into that sleep that knows no awakening on this side of eternity; and on the Monday following, her remains were carried to the grave attended by a large concourse of people Such was the brief career of this truly noble and heroic maiden.

Mr. Covode said that he wanted the list in the possession of Mr. Schell, because it contained the names of Government officers, and not because it was signed by private individuals. Mr. Hickman ineffectually sought to present his report.

John Cochrane introduced a bill for preventing the vessels of any government carrying out, save bullion and specie, neither passengers, letters, or frieght for hire under penalty—

I In an editorial in the Yeoman in rela-Judge Goodloe, the decision of the Court of Appeals, and also a review of the decision of the influence to develop the growing prosperity of Court of Appeals, the editor charges us with having acted unfairly, for political purposes. The unfairness, we presume, consists in our baving published, as a matter of courtesy, the whole of these documents, expressly disclaim ing any intention of taking sides in relation to the affair

We suppose the editor of the Yeoman attributes the motives to us by which he is usually actuated in his own course as an editor. If so, we suppose we have no reason to complain of him, as men are very apt to judge of the motives of others by those which prompt their own acts. We had no other motive in publishing these decisions than to give Judge Goodloe and the Court of Appeals both a fair hearing in their own words, and let them be judged accordingly. And we published the review, by request, as a courtesy to the author, believing, as we do, that the decision of any legal tribunal is a fair subject of criticism by any one who may differ from the judge or judges rendering it. If we mistake not, the Yeoman agrees with us in this opinion, as it has been but a short time since the editor of that paper took grounds against the opinion of a learned judge.

We have none other than feelings of respect very high regard personally for each one of the distinguished gentlemen on the bench of that court. But this would not prevent us from respectfully taking issue with them when we thought they had erred. In this case, however, we have expressed no opinion, pro. or con.

The Yeoman seems to be very sensitive on the subject. Is the Yeoman afraid that the people opinion of Judge Goodloe? For ourselves we are always willing to publish both sides of any legal question, that the people may form tucky's great statesman-Henry Clay. their own opinions.

What inducement can there be for them to do so?

If the citizens of Frankfort, business men and others, should send off to other points for their supplies of provisions, bacon, lard, fowls, butter, others who supply our market find sale for their mence until the fourth day of June. This will copy of the treaty bearing the ratification of his articles which they now vend in our streets and leave a week between the Louisville and Lex market house? And in the meanwhile many articles of small value in detail, but amounting to a good round sum in the year, would become useless from age or be wasted before the time for send ing them to market.

We have heard of instances where several persons who wanted small supplies for family use would club together and send off to other dis tant places and buy them for cash, thereby saving a few dimes probably; while those same persons depended entirely on a home market for the sale, at high prices, of their products, for the very money they sent off. And when they were in want of other articles, and had not the cash, would purchase on credit of their home people Now we put it to all candid persons to say if this is right in principle. We do not deny the perfect freedom of every one to buy and sell when and where it suits them; but we do deny that such a principle is judicious or for the interests of those who practice it; and it certainly is not conducive to the best interests of the commu-

This is the first diplomatic agent ever sent out from Japan, and it is intended by this govern ment as a special mark of respect for that of the United States. They desire that the embassador should proceed to the United States, via Panama, to avoid all parts of Europe; not having suitable vessels to transport their ministers across the Pacific ocean, they have applied to me for a suit able conveyance. I have the honor to inclose a copy of that communication, and beg your attention to its contents; and at the same time to request you (provided it can be done consistently with the public interests) to furnish the conveynce desired by the Japanese.

I consider this as a matter of very great imortance. There is no doubt the Japanese re-arded us in a more friendly light than any of he other powers with whom they have come in contact; they wish to foster that feeling, and a ed friend and brother from the scene of his earth compliance with their request will give great sat-isfaction not only to the government but to all

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

The proprietors and manufacturers of HOS-TETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BIT-TERS can appeal with perfect confidence to physicians and citizens generally of the United States, because the article has attained a reputation heretofore unknown. A few facts upon this point will speak more powerfully than volumes of bare assertion or blazoning puffery. The consumption of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters for the last year amounted to over a halfmillion bottles, and from its manifest steady increase in times past, it is evident that during the coming year the consumption will reach near one million bottles. This immense amount could never have been sold but for the rare medicinal properties contained in the preparation, and the sanction of the most prominent physicians in those sections of the country where the article is best known, who not only recommend the Bitters to their patients, but are ready at all times to give testimonials to its efficacy in all cases of stomachic derangements and the diseases resulting therefrom.

This is not a temporary popularity, obtained by extraordinary efforts in the way of trum-peting the qualities of the Bitters, but a solid estimation of an invaluable medicine, which is destined to be as enduring as time itself.

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters have proved a Godsend to regions where fever and ague and various other bilious complaints have counted their victims by hundreds. To be able to state confidently that the "Bitters" are a certain cure for the Dyspepsia and like diseases, is to the proprietors a source of un-alloyed pleasure. It removes all morbid matter from the stomach, purifies the blood, and imparts renewed vitality to the nervous system, giving it that tone and energy indispensable for the restoration of health. It operates upon the stomach, liver, and other digestive organs, mildly but powerfully, and soon restores them to a condition essential to the healthy discharge of the functions of nature.

Elderly persons may use the Bitters daily as per directions on the bottle, and they will find per directions on the bottle, and they will had in it a stimulant peculiarly adapted to comfort declining years, as it is pleasant to the palate, invigorating to the bowels, excellent as a tonic, and rejuvenating generally. We have the evidence of thousands of aged men and women who have experienced the benefit of using this preparation while suffering from stomach derangements and general debility; acting under the advice of physicians, they have abandoned all deleterious drugs and fairly tested the merits of this article. A few words to the gentler sex. There are certain periods when their cares are so harassing that many of then sink under the trial. The relation of mothe and child is so absorbingly tender, that the mother, especially if she be young, is apt to forget her own health in her extreme anxiety for her infant. Should the period of maternit arrive during the summer season, the wear of body and mind is generally aggravated. Here then, is a necessity for a stimulant to recupe rate the energies of the system, and enable the mother to bear up under her exhausting trials and responsibilities. Nursing mothers gene rally prefer the Bitters to all other invigora tors that receive the endorsement of physicians, because it is agreeable to the taste as well as certain to give a permanent increase of bodily strength.

All those persons, to whom we have particu larly referred above, to wit: sufferers from fever and ague, caused by malaria, diarrheea, dysentery, indigestion, loss of appetite, and all diseases or derangements of the stomach, superannuated invalids, persons of sedentary occupation, and nursing mothers, will consult their own physical welfare by giving to Hos-tetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters a trial.

CAUTION.—We caution the public against using any of the many imitations or counterfeits, but ask for Hostetter's Celebrated STOMACH BITTERS, and see that each bottle has the words "Dr. J. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters" blown on the side of the bottle, and stamped on the metallic cap covering the cork, and observe that our autograph signature is on the label.

Prepared and sold by HOSTETTER & SMITH, Pittsburgh, Pa., and sold by all druggists, grocers, and dealers generally throughout the United States, South America, and Germany.
